

- (b) John Larroquette Show referenced Yoyodyne. Many years in the future the same Yoyodyne built starships for Starfleet in the 24th century, including the U.S.S. Brattain and the U.S.S. Phoenix on Star Trek: The Next Generation, which features the adventures of the crew of the U.S.S. Enterprise-D.
- (i) The U.S.S. Enterprise-D had visits from some former crew members and guests of the first Starfleet ship U.S.S. Enterprise NCC-1701, including Leonard McCoy, Sarek, and Montgomery Scott. Additionally, U.S.S. Enterprise-D crewmembers Jean-Luc Picard and Data have met with Spock. The U.S.S. Enterprise NCC-1701 was the setting of Star Trek.
1. Dr. Jackson Roykirk invented both the earthquake machine that had to be defeated by Team Knight Rider and the Nomad robot that had to be defeated by the Star Trek crew.
 - a. Team Knight Rider was a spin-off of Knight Rider.
 - i. The character of David Dalton first appeared on Knight Rider, then spun-off onto Code of Vengeance.
 2. James T. Kirk, Montgomery Scott, and Pavel Chekov appeared in the movie Star Trek Generations. In the same movie, James T. Kirk traveled to the future and met Jean-Luc Picard.
 3. Kor, Koloth, and Kang were three Klingon captains that had encounters with the U.S.S. Enterprise NCC-1701. Later, these three would unite on a mission with Jadzia Dax of Starbase Deep Space Nine to avenge the deaths of their children. Kor would further have adventures with Worf while he served on Starbase Deep Space Nine. Additionally, thanks to a time travel incident, several Starbase Deep Space Nine crewmembers would get to meet several U.S.S. Enterprise NCC-1701 crewmembers.
 4. Tuvok of the U.S.S. Voyager in his youth knew Hikaru Sulu and Janice Rand, both former crewmembers of the U.S.S. Enterprise NCC-1701.

Additionally, the Enterprise NX-01 crew encountered the Augments, an offshoot of the genetic engineering program that created Khan Noonien Singh, an Earth tyrant encountered by the U.S.S. Enterprise NCC-1701 crew in an episode of Star Trek
- (ii) Ambassador Spock, while meeting with Jean-Luc Picard on an episode of The Next Generation, makes direct reference to the Khitomer Accord, which established an important Federation/Klingon armistice.
1. The Khitomer Accord is also referenced in several episodes of Star Trek: Deep Space Nine.
- (iii) Worf and Miles O'Brien were on the crew of the U.S.S. Enterprise-D before being assigned to Starbase Deep Space Nine. Additionally, the U.S.S. Enterprise-D crewmembers have had dealings with Benjamin Sisko, Julian Bashir, and Quark, all who serve or live on the station. Starbase Deep Space Nine is the setting of Star Trek: Deep Space Nine.
1. Starbase Deep Space Nine was the launching point of the U.S.S. Voyager's fateful mission that would unwillingly send the ship to the other side of the galaxy. Deep Space Nine's bartender Quark met with U.S.S. Voyager crewmembers Harry Kim and Tom Paris before the ship departed. Later, both the Deep Space Nine crew and the U.S.S. Voyager's Emergency Medical Holographic Program (a.k.a. the E.M.H. or just the Doctor) would encounter Dr. Lewis Zimmerman, the creator of the Emergency Medical Holographic Program.
 2. Starbase Deep Space Nine's Julian Bashir encountered Section 31, a secret organization in the Federation dedicated to protecting the Federation by any means necessary. Over two centuries earlier, Enterprise NX-01's Malcolm Reed was a member of Section 31 when it was dedicated to protecting just Earth by any means necessary.

- (iv) William T. Riker, formerly of the U.S.S. Enterprise-D, once visited the U.S.S. Voyager due to the interference of the entity known as Q. Additionally, other former U.S.S. Enterprise-D crewmembers such as Deanna Troi and Reginald Barclay have made contact with the U.S.S. Voyager while the ship was on the other side of the galaxy. The U.S.S. Voyager is the setting of Star Trek: Voyager.
 - (v) William T. Riker and Deanna Troi, while serving on the U.S.S. Enterprise-D, played in a holodeck recreation of Enterprise NX-01's final mission before being decommissioned. Enterprise NX-01 was the setting of Star Trek: Enterprise.

▪ Boy Meets World and Step by Step both had episodes at Disney World and whiel in Disney World Eric from Boy Meets World met Dana from Step by Step

• The family from Step by Step was in the middle of a barbeque outside when Urkel from Family Matters came (literally) crashing in on the jetpack he had built on the last episode of Family Matters.

◆ Steve Urkel visited Stephanie Tanner of Full House to convince her that glasses could be cool (seriously).

➤ Michelle Tanner from Full House appeared on an episode of Hangin' With Mr. Cooper in which Mr. Cooper was her substitute teacher.

◆ Family Matters' Urkel appeared in the first two episodes of Meego.

➤ Meego (who was an alien) tried to contact his mother on the home planet by phone and instead the phone connected with Gilligan, Mary Ann and the Professor on Gillian's Island.

• Gidget and her family went on a cruise on The New Gidget and ended up on Gillian's Island.

◆ The New Gidget was a sequel series to the original Gidget. It aired 20 years after the orginial show and picked up the lives of the characters of Gidget 20 years later.

◆ Both Gidget and Sister Bertrille from The Flying Nun mentioned in their respective shows that they were members of a rock band called The Gorries.

◆ Family Matters was a spin-off of the character of Hariette and Carl Winslow from Perfect Strangers.

- Perfect Strangers' featured a game show segment in which the toilet was provided courtesy of Cunningham Hardware in Milwaukee, WI, owned by Howard Cunningham of Happy Days.
 - Laverne and Shirley were friends of Fonzie's on Happy Days who spun-off onto their own show. The characters from both shows had many crossovers.
 - Mork was originally a character that appeared in a dream of Happy Days' Ritchie but he was later brought back as a non-dream character on his own show (Mork and Mindy) and on that show he once showed Mindy that he had been to earth before by showing her the time that Fonzie (Happy Days) set Mork up on a date with Laverne (Laverne and Shirley).
 - Out of the Blue was a spin-off of Happy Days in which Chachi's guardian angel Random got his own show set in the (then) present day where Random tried to live as a human. (note: due to oddities of scheduling Out of the Blue actually started airing before the episode of Happy Days meant to introduce Random aired. By the time the episode of Happy Days with Random aired Out of the Blue was already on the air and the character was not new. So Random's appearance on Happy Days is both a crossover episode and a backdoor pilot for a show that was already on the air.)
 - Mork of Mork and Mindy visited Random on Out of the Blue. The two were old friends, Mork's home planet of Ork was right next to Heaven (where Random was from)
 - Joanie Loves Chachi was a spin-off featuring Happy Days characters Joanie, Chachi, and Al after their move from Milwaukee to Chicago.
 - Nancy Blansky of Blansky's Beauties was the cousin of Happy Days' Howard Cunningham.

(e) The Drew Carey Show's characters watch a video of Home Improvement's Tool Time.

(i) Home Improvement spun-off Buddies

(ii) Home Improvement and Soul Man crossed over numerous times.

(iii) Home Improvement's Bradly Taylor appear on an episode of Thunder Alley

(f) The Drew Carey Show's cast went to NYC where a traffic tie-up was being investigated by NYPD Blue's James Martinez.

(i) NYPD Blue spun-off Public Morals.

1. NYPD Blue's station house was visited by Hill Street Blues' Buck Naked

a. Hill Street Blues spun-off Beverly Hills Buntz.

b. Hill Street Blues' Howard Hunter appeared on Cop Rock.

❖ Cop Rock's station house was also visited by Victor Sifuentes and Abby Perkins from L.A.Law.

10. Bottom right: Dr. Morton Chegley from Julia taught a few of the doctors from St. Elsewhere.

11. Bottom right: The White Shadow's Warren Coolidge went to work at St Elsewhere's hospital.
12. Bottom right: St Elsewhere's Elliot Axelrod's cousin visited The Tattingers.
 - A. The Tattingers was renamed and reworked into Nick and Hillary.
13. Bottom left: St Elsewhere's hospital management company Weigert (was Ecumena) took over Oz's hospital. Also Homicide's detectives watched Oz's Miss Sally on TV.
 - A. Oz's Miss Sally is also seen on The Beat.
 - i. The Beat's Dorigan and Marinelli got help from L&O:Special Victims Unit John Munch.
14. Bottom left: Homicide's John Munch moved to New York and L&O:SVU (and came back to Baltimore for Homicide's movie)
15. Bottom left: Homicide and Law & Order:Classic had four crossovers.
 - A. L&O:Classic spun off L&O:SVU, L&O:Criminal Intent, L&O: Trial By Jury, and Conviction all four L&Os have had crossover episodes or characters (n.b. L&O:CI, L&O:Trial by Jury & Conviction aren't connected to Homicide just to L&O:SVU and L&O:Classic.)
 - i. Characters from various Law & Order series have read, referenced or visited the offices of the New York Ledger, the fictional paper from Dick Wolf's series, Deadline.
 - ii. L&O:Classic's Elizabeth Olivet appeared on New York Undercover.
 - iii. L&O: SVU's John Munch appeared on the series finale of Arrested Development.
 - iv. L&O: SVU's John Munch appeared on the series premiere of Paris Section Criminelle a French reworking of Law and Order: Crinimal Intent.
16. Bottom Left: An episode of Crossing Jordan featured a priest from St. Eligius Church in Boston. St. Elsewhere was set at St Eligius Hospital in Boston.
 - A. Fisher and Sons funeral home from Six Feet Under exists within the reality of Crossing Jordan and is mentioned several times during the show.
 - B. Las Vegas's Danny McCoy and Sam Marquez took a plane to Boston. While in flight a guy on the plane died causing a crossover with Crossing Jordan.
 - i. Heroes's Hiro Nakamura and his best friend played roulette and poker at Las Vegas's Montecito.
 - ii. The Office (US's) Dunder Mifflin Inc., who apparently reserved a large conference room at Las Vegas's Monticito.
 - iii. Mary Connell from Las Vegas appeared on two episodes of the show Passions when the some of the Passions cast went to Vegas.
 - (1) A doll was reanimated into Phoebe Figalilly from The Nanny and the Professor on Passions so that a character could have a nanny.
 - (2) Doctor Bombay Bewitched's doctor of witches and warlocks was called tot eh aide of a with in trouble on Passions.
 - (a) Bewitched spunoff Tabitha.
17. Bottom Left: St Elsewhere's Dr Westphall is paged twice on Degrassi Junior High. In the episode "Nothing to Fear" LD's father is in the hospital and Dr. Westphall is paged on the hospital intercom. Later, in the episode "Sealed with a Kiss", "Dr Donald Westphall" is paged, loud and clear, over the hospital intercom when Heather & Erica go in for a mono test.
 - A. Degrassi Junior High was reworked and repurposed from The Kids of Degrassi Street.
 - B. As the kids in Degrassi Junior High grew up the show changed its title to Degrassi High. 14 years after Degrassi Junior High started the next generation of students entered Degrassi in Degrassi: The Next Generation. The new spinoff of the show includes 5 of the characters from the original series as well as a few of those original show character's kids.

Rules/Exclusions - In almost every category of rules/exclusions there are things that we would love to include. However, we cannot cherry pick which one or two things in a certain category we would like to include, instead we would have to include all of a type if we allowed in some of a type. So for simplicity (hah!) and our remaining bits of sanity we do not include any show that is not a narrative live action program with a shared continuity from episode to episode. The particulars of the rules & exclusions are below (along with mentions of what we wish we could include, and often why the category is excluded):

1. Crossovers with "real" shows and "real" people.
 - A. Episodes where reality shows exist within a fictional sphere are not included (such as the X-Files/COPS crossover and the Chicago Hope/Entertainment Tonight crossover)
 - B. Episodes where actual people exist within a fictional sphere are not included (such as Jay Leno, Alex Trebek, and professional wrestlers and athletes who have played themselves on many shows some of which are listed here).
 - C. These real/fictional crossovers are often great for a laugh and it is usually really interesting to see the real and fictional spheres meld briefly but there is no way to fully document all of these crossovers and there is no logical stopping point for the inclusion of a show on the grounds of a shared real space.
2. Cartoons & Puppets
 - A. There are a few legitimate cartoon & puppet crossovers that we would like to include (namely the Simpsons' crossovers with Cheers and X-Files and the Sesame Street crossover with L&O:SVU) but opening the door for the Simpsons & Sesame Street would force us to include more than a score of 1960s cartoon. Not only are most of those cartoons bad but cartoon crossover history is too poorly documented for even our best searching to yield a complete list and the cartoon crossovers were rarely more than cameos
 - B. The cartoons that are related by loose ties to shows on the grid include: The Simpsons, The Brady Kids, the entire 1960s DC cartoonverse (Superman, Justice League of America, Superboy, etc), the entire 1990s DC cartoonverse (Justice League, Batman Beyond, Gotham Knights, Static Shock, etc), The Addams Family cartoon, Scooby-Doo, and the rest of the Hanna-Barbera cartoonverse.
3. Movies with theatrical debuts
 - A. TV miniseries, movies and reunion specials do count (assuming shared continuity with the TV show) as if they were any other episode of the show. Movies that appeared in theaters first do not count even if they have shared continuity with the TV series (X-Files: Fight the Future, Serenity). And they don't count twice over when they do not share internal continuity (The Brady Bunch Movie (1995), A Very Brady Sequel (1996), Superman & Batman movies, etc.)
4. Pilots & Spin offs.
 - A. In order for a pilot or spin off to be included on the grid it must exist as a distinct aired entity. Back-door pilots that only appeared on the main show and were never their own distinct show do not count.
5. Anthology series
 - A. Anthology television series (such as The Outer Limits and The Twilight Zone) which assume no shared continuity between episodes are excluded because of their lack of internal continuity.
6. The Munch Rule
 - A. A few different characters on the grid (John Munch, Mike Logan, Lucy Ricardo, and others) moved completely from one show to another and then crossed over to a third show for an episode or two. On the grid and the key the crossover is only listed between the show the character was on at the time of the cross and the show he/she crossed onto. For example, any new shows on which John Munch now appears are simply crossovers with L&O:SVU not L&O:SVU and Homicide.

The final count:

280 shows are connected to Homicide: Life on the Street and St. Elsewhere, for a grand total of 282 series.

The only non-US shows in the Tommyverse are: The Degrassi shows (Canada), The Office (UK), the Doctor Who shows (UK), and Paris Section Criminelle (France). Paris Section Criminelle is the only show not in English in the Tommyverse.

The shows span from 1951 (I Love Lucy) to the present (26 shows are still on the air).
